UW-ROCK COUNTY ENGINEERING LAB

Fundraising Effort Tops Six Figures On Way To $600,000 Goal

M&I Bank and Angus-Young Associates have become the latest businesses to contribute to the fundraising effort to build an engineering laboratory at the University of Wisconsin-Rock County. The lab space will accommodate the new four-year electrical engineering degree offered at the Janesville campus in partnership with UW-Platteville.

M&I contributed a total of $30,000 and Angus-Young committed to a $15,000 donation. These new pledges bring the fundraising total above $100,000, on the way to a goal of $600,000.

The private fundraising campaign is being led by Forward Janesville, the Greater Beloit Chamber of Commerce and the UW-Rock County Foundation. Plans call for completion of the facility by fall 2007.

Businesses interested in contributing to the effort should contact Forward Janesville at 608-757-3160 for more information.
